

INDIGENOUS PUBLIC HEALTH WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

David Scrimgeour
ANAPHI Teaching & Learning Forum,
Alice Springs
September 27th 2007

INDIGENOUS PUBLIC HEALTH WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

INDIGENOUS HEALTH WORKFORCE

or

INDIGENOUS HEALTH WORKFORCE

INDIGENOUS PUBLIC HEALTH WORKFORCE

- Australia's predominant public health issue.
- Crisis.
- Whose responsibility is it?
- Important not to discourage non-Indigenous students from becoming involved in Indigenous health issues.
- As an academic discipline, Indigenous public health should ensure cross-fertilisation of ideas.
- The "ladder of opportunity".

INDIGENOUS PUBLIC HEALTH WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

INDIGENOUS PUBLIC HEALTH WORKFORCE

or

INDIGENOUS PUBLIC HEALTH
WORKFORCE

INDIGENOUS PUBLIC HEALTH WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

INDIGENOUS PUBLIC HEALTH WORKFORCE

and

INDIGENOUS PUBLIC HEALTH
WORKFORCE

INDIGENOUS PUBLIC HEALTH TEACHING

The role of non-Indigenous public health practitioners with experience in Indigenous health

“INDIGENOUS HEALTH” in the University of Adelaide graduate public health program

- History
- Non-Indigenous Co-ordinator
- Guest speakers: Indigenous & non-Indigenous
- Site visits

“INDIGENOUS HEALTH” in the University of Adelaide graduate public health program

1. Overview of Indigenous health
2. Culture and health
3. Health & History
4. Indigenous policy context
5. Indigenous health policy
6. Indigenous health service delivery
7. Economics: resource allocation, workforce

“INDIGENOUS HEALTH” in the University of Adelaide graduate public health program

8. Addictions

9. Social and emotional wellbeing & related issues

10. Environmental health

11. Research issues

12. Chronic disease; nutrition; program sustainability

13. Education; Incarceration